Jail for sex

Sex, in psychological consideration, is something more natural than eating or sleeping, it is the basis of life, but you could imagine that there are nations that punish it, imagine being in prison for sex, or having a season of forced labor for it. . It sounds completely crazy, but it is real, so it is in some nations.

A set of Muslim countries have actually determined to legislate some laws based on carnal experiences, as you can imagine guided to restrict sexuality.

The same is true of countries with uncivilized cultures (by which I mean that they maintain their civilization and lifestyle without updates or novelties in the last 1000 years), generally located in Central Africa, and within some countries in Latin America and Australia, have made determinations to punish sex, that is, sex in some cases can cost you your life, or even a part of your body ... Do not hesitate, until castration.

But do not look at it as an isolated event, it can really touch you, there have been thousands of cases in countries like Dubai and Qatar, which are very popular for being a luxurious tourist destination, exquisite plan, and more if your purpose is tourist and inside them always a good dose of sex.

These destinations open to everyone who can pay, bring with them a series of heavy, strong and somewhat abnormal norms for us Westerners, that is, your girl cannot show much of her body, the exaggeration is such that she cannot show much of your arms. Kisses, caresses, can be the reason for a violent expulsion, and not to mention talking with an unknown girl.

What's going on? What the fuck is it?

There is no judgment on these cultures, simply for millennia they have woven a strong restriction, which suddenly cannot be flexible, since it is the pillar of their culture, it would be more appropriate, than your dear libertine, they simply abide by the rules, or just do not go, there is a giant world to go.

I do not want to hurt cultural susceptibilities, but I do want to warn about these rules with the simple and noble purpose that you do not violate them.

A Russian delight wants to live in your house ...

We cannot deny that universally the pillars of beauty are women from Russia, the Czech Republic, Ukraine, and some Eastern European countries.

We know that genetically these girls are so beautiful, that I consider the whole paradigm of the lush blonde of Hollywood, and the cute dolls of beauty reigns and others are inspired by Soviet aesthetics.

On a trip I made to the Czech Republic, I remember going to a market, where the girl who attended was more beautiful than any cheerleader in my high school, oh god it's easy to fall in love on any street corner. Such was my constant infatuation, that I was thinking of going to put an American hot dog store, to meet the love of my life, a temporary madness by the way.

My personal experience, you can see it replicated on the internet, where many men leave their hearts and testicles in the occasional magical adventure with these real life dolls.

This is why a fast growing business has taken over the internet, and it is dating venues, for Russian marriages.

Not only places of dates, but also familiar places where mothers look for serious, respectful boyfriends and if possible wealthy for their Russian daughters. Other places offer team dynamics, tours and trips to meet the love of your life in a Russian city ... Endless opportunities.

I would not like to advertise this service, in fact, I do not want to name the websites where I have had these experiences, you can simply put in a search engine "Russian wives", and you will get a lot of options, some better than others.

I suggest you have realistic photos, and take care of your intentions, do not fall in love at first, they really are special girls, and with a strong energy with whom we can fall in love at first sight.

You have nothing to lose, maybe you will find love, or you can take an interesting trip, the passion is afloat in these plans.
